

The Ancram Opera House presents

Friday August 8th Saturday August 9th

A Black Arts Evening of Illusions

with Magician Peter Samelson

The New York Times has called Samelson the "soft-spoken conceptualist of sorcery." He co-produces New York's famed Monday Night Magic ("a lovely chamber session of magicians" writes Adam Gopnik in the New Yorker) and has starred in two one-man Off-Broadway shows, The Magician and PaperWork. He has made dozens of television appearances, including the PBS special The Art of Magic, and creates illusions for commercials, films and theatre.

For this special presentation at the Opera House, Peter Samelson brings to Ancram his original Magic and Illusions mixed with vignettes and visions inspired by the Black Art theatres of Prague. A unique and sophisticated show for adult minds of all ages.

Friday, August 8th and Saturday, August 9th, 8pm

White tablecloth cabaret seating with snacks & drinks: $40

Regular seating: $15 in advance, $20 at the door

Click here to buy tickets online for this event.
See below for other purchasing options.

Options for buying your tickets

1. If you'd like to purchase tickets with a credit card, please do so online (a small service charge will apply). Click here to buy tickets for Magician Peter Samelson online.
2. You can reserve seats at the lower advance ticket price by emailing us at info@ancramoperahouse.com or calling 518 329 7393. Let us know your name and phone, how many tickets you'd like and which night--Friday or Saturday. Please pay for these tickets by cash or check at the door.
3. You can buy tickets at the door (cost is generally a bit higher) in the hour before the starting time of the show with cash or check. Availability may be limited.

Thank you so much for supporting the Ancram Opera House!